Family tradition asserts that the DOREMUS family were originally from France, in which case the name may be a corruption of DE RHEIMS, signifying that they came from that ancient town. Whatever may be the remote origin of the family, certain it is that the first settler and his children were all called DOREMUS with very little variation in spelling. This is a Latinized form of the original name which is said to have been DORE, hence DORE OF RHEIMS or DORE DE RHEIMS.

The DOREMUSES were Huguenots and at the time of the Religious Persecution they escaped to Switzerland and lived there. Some time later some of the family went to Holland, married and then came to America.

Two other children, CORNELIS & JOHANNES were born in Middleburg, Holland; After Thomas they had JANNETJE, JORIS, and HENDRIK.
